Patient walked in for a dental consultation.
BP while lying down was 180/110mmHg.
He mentioned he was a hypertensive who had discontinued on his medications for more than a year and was initially declined to be seen by a GP and said he preferred being seen in Canada.
However after patient was seen by Serket who also inquired about his BP, he finally decided to come in for a GP consult.

He had no complaints. BP recheck was 280/120mmHg.
He looked well and had no signs and symptoms
of heart failure.

Patient was counselled and started on 75
Amlodipine 10mg dly and 75 Losartan 100mg daily after he declined referral for BP control. Staff doses of the drugs were administered before patient left.
He was counselled to report for a consult by his preferred physician in Canada.
